Dancing on Air

Jon Bubbett

Dancing On Air was inspired by watching eagles flying at the Circle B Bar Reserve in central Florida. Flocks of bald eagles flying over Lake Hancock twisting and turning in the breeze as graceful as ballet dancers in a perfectly synchronized choreography. But then on occasion, they go on the hunt. Diving straight down from their “dancing height” into the water below in search of dinner! Central Florida has one of the largest populations of nesting bald eagles in the United States. To watch these magnificent birds soar through the sky and “dance” in the air is a truly beautiful sight.

Performance Suggestions:

The opening tempo should be brisk but not too fast. Eagles are majestically soaring through the sky...not racing.

Notice how the melody in m9 and m17 starts in the upper woodwinds but then hands off to the trumpets. These first 4 notes represent these magnificent creatures as they flap their wings to gain altitude and then glide. Take care that both parts have equal prominence and should have equal standing.

M25 finds the eagles simply gliding on the summer breeze over the lake as they search the water below with their “eagle eyes” looking for prey. Take care to keep this section very simple and yet elegant.

Now the horns and baritones, along with the clarinets, are the ones seeking altitude and the flutes along with are the ones gliding on the summer breezes over the lake.

The eagles spot their prey beginning at m57 and the hunt is on. Make certain the timpani solo is nice and aggressive with good firm accents answered by the winds. Take care to properly feature the phrase shapes at m64 as the eagles contemplate the perfect time to dive into the water. This will perfectly off set the “dive” at m80.

M98 is the climax of the piece with dozens of eagles flying and “dancing” on air as they continue to seek altitude and then dive into the water from dizzying heights!

Jon Bubbett, a native of Dothan, AL., graduated from Dothan High School (1977). He received his BMed from Troy State University, Troy, AL in 1981 and his MMed in 1989 from VanderCook College of Music, Chicago, IL.
